SCENE OF FIGHTING IN FAR EAST.

Comrades Wreak Terrible Revenge Upon Russians-Entire Companies Mowed Down by Withering Fire.

MUKDEN, October 15.—One of the bloodiest episodes of the desperate fighting between the Shakho River and Yental during the last three days occurred at the village of Endotiula, west of the reliroad, and on the neighboring heights, early of the railroad. The Japanese had been driven out of these positions with terrible losses, but October 13th they onicentrated such a murderous artillery fire on the village that it became necessary for the Russians to withdraw, the railroad, however, being held. The same evening the Russian commander gave imperative orders to recogny Endotiula, The Zaratsk Regiment, without firing a single shot, marched under cover of the darkness and bayoneted where commanded by sergeants after all of the Japanese, many of whom died as enpao consisted of over a regiment of infantry, with two batteries of artillery and this force is now retreating toward Sugantal, where the Russians are halting. A portion of the center column is pursuing the enemy toward Yuboyun.

Counter Attack Repulsed.

"The forces of the enemy opposing the left wing of the left army at Changliangho and neighborhood, where the left column was engaging them, gradually adstanced reinforcements, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon made a counter attack, but they were successfully repulsed by our left column. The strength of the enemy opposing the left column was fully four regiments of infantry, with the batteries of artillery." of artillery." The report from field headquarters goes

"From October 19th to October 14th the result of the continuous fighting has been favorable in every direction, while the enemy's strength was always superior. Not only was the enemy defeated, but he was vigorously pursued by us, our forces pressing him against the left bank of the Hun liver and inflicting upon him heavy losses.

"The guns captured number over thirty, and the prisoners taken num-her several hundred. "Thus the object of the enemy has been completely frustrated, and his of-femiles-movement has ended in final failure.

The corpses left by the enemy at different points are too numerous to be easily counted.

The Losses.

"The enemy's losses cannot be easily ascertained, owing to the continuance of the fighting, but they must exceed "The trophies, beside the guns, include an enormous quantity of ammunition, wagons and rifles. These are still uncounted. The Russian corpses left on the field between October 10th and October 18th and burned by us exceeded 2,990 in number. The bodies left after the fighting of October 18th are very numerous. Our castualties October 18th and 12th were fifteen officers killed, forty-six¹ wounded, and 1,250 men killed and wounded. story of the fighting below Mukden, says:

"The struggle was resumed is day at daybreak, with every promise of another day of stubborn combat. It is now the sixth day of a fight imprecedented in history for the stubbornness and tenacity shown by both sides.

"The fighting Friday morning was resumed at a o clock. We again advanced from Shakhe, capturing the advanced position held by the Japanese by brilliant attacks by the Epifanievsky and Yukhnovsky regiments. We reached their second line positions, but here a fierce artillery fire compelled our troops to lialt, and a desperate artillery duel was commenced. Twelve Japanese guins were slienced, every gunner being killed, and their linfantry support also being driven back. The guns stood in plain view, but it was impossible for us to take them. Two battallons which were ordered to secure the Japanese guins advanced in the face of a terrible cannonade and ritle fire from the Japanese rom positions. It was however, an impossible task. The shrapnel of the enemy decimated the advancing ranks; whole companies withered under the terrific fire, and our men were compelled to abandon the attempt.

ered under the terrific fire, and our men were compelled to abandon the attempt.

"Later in the day a similar plight befell three of our batteries. They had advanced behind our infantry to pave the way for an attack on the Japanese position, but the infantry was forced back. The artillerymen were almost all killed, and the guns remained alone. The Japanese made repeated desperate advances in the hope of securing the guns, but each time they were driven off, and towards nightfall we removed the guns safely. "Our artillery action was beyond praise. Throughout the day the service of the guns and the accuracy of the fire was splendld. An entire battallon of Japanese was moved down while attempting to advance, the troops fighting brillianity, and blood literally flowing in streams. Everywhere death seems to be a secondary consideration.

"Toward evening the fighting at Shakhe abated, and we and the Japanese getained our respective positions.

GLOOM IN'ST. PETERSBURG.

Correspondent, However, Hints at Sensational News From Eastern Front.

(By Associated Press.)

ST. PETERSBURG, October 16-2 A. M. The latest report from the front brings the story of the great battle up to Sal vigor. The Russians are nothing the position at Shakhe and apparently neiththey nor the Japanese are able to ession. The lack of official news undoubted checking of General Kuro depression. The lack of official news, the undoubted checking of General Kuropatkin's aggressive move and the enormous Russian losses in men and guns, compared, with the optimistic reports from Totic, all combine to prepare the public for anything short of a total rout of the Russians. Nevertheless, the reports of the newspaper correspondents at the front, while admitting the heavy losses of the Russian troops and their retreat beyond the Shakhe River describe the front. While admitting the heavy losses of the Russian troops and their retreat beyond the Shakhe River describe the soldlers as fighting with undiminished ardor. One dispatch even hints at extremely encouraging news from the eastern flank but counsel's patence and official confirmation before accepting it as true. There is a noteworthy absence of bitterness against General Kuropatkin and the bellef is prevalent that he was compelled to assume the offensive. A majority of the people are inclined to regard him as a victim of circumstances and all admire the skiltul manner in which he again removed his forces as soon as he realized the danger of pressing the advance.

in capturing the latter, though at fearful cost. The position at Pollasautzi, still further toward the Taitse River, held by the Tomsk regiment, was furiously assauted and the regiment lost heavily. The Tamboff regiment extreated itself from a seemingly hopeless position and succeeded in effecting its retirement. The Russians stuck to most of their positions heroically Tuesday, except at the Schill River.

At noon the Russian light began failing back, and the attack upon the Russian center and left weakened in the evenne, but the rifle fire continued with little intermission throughout the night.

The Japanese to-day (Thursday, October 3th) renewed their attacks, and the battle proceeded with varying success, but, on the whole, favorable to the Japanese, as the Russians continued to give ground.

The Russian wounded are being sent north to Harbin.

of the Norfolk club for $2,000 for Pitcher Mathewson's release,
New York secured the great pitcher from Norfolk toward the end of the season of 1900, and promised to pay the Norfolk club $2,000 if he came up to expectations. Mathewson did good work, and New York placed his name on its reserve list, but withdrew it later, John T. Brush, then president of the Chelmaticulub, signed Mathewson, but returned him to New York. In the meantime New York informed the Norfolk club that it would not pay the amount demanded for Mathewson's release. The contention of the New York club was that Mathewson was secured from the Chelmati club and not from Norfolk.

The settlement of the case to-day marks the end of a long logal battle.

THE DAVIS TOUR CONTINUES

Candidate Narrowly Escapes Being Kissed by Fifty Pretty Girls at Millwood.

(By Associated Press.)

IIUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 15.—No, more force bills, no more Federal election laws for the control of State elections. This was the conclusion reached by David B. IIIII after discussing the race question as a political issue here to-night. Mr. IIII has not discussed this question previously during the campaign he is making with Henry G. Davis, Vice-Presidential candiale. Leading to this conclusion, he declared the Republican platform injected the question into the campaign not directly, but indirectly, not openly and manfully, but covertly and cowardly. The congressional investigation invoked, he said, looks like a threat intended for intimidation purposes. Continuing, he said, the proposal espoused in the platform might be viewed with more complacency, and less eriousness had not the attitude of the present occupant of the White House, ever since his incumbency thereof, been that of ill concealed hostility to those whose notions of social equality differed so radically from his own. It is a fact demonstrated by an examination of the last census in confection with the election returns in ordenary years that of the last census in connection with the jority of the white vote of the Eastern and Western States to enable them to control the presidency, the negro vote from those States being excluded from the computation and the Southern electoral vote, remaining as at present and that the Republicans have only been enabled to win the national elections through the colored Republican vote. This fact speaks for itself. The figures thus indicate that this is still a white man's government and must necessarily largely remain so.

This was Mr. Hill's last speech in the Davis itinerary. The speakers to-night were, besides Mg. Davis, Messrs, Hill, Daniel, White and W. C. Daly.

The meetings to-day at Millwood, Mason City and Point Pleasant were largely attended, especially at the latter place, where the time was extended to two hours.
